

How does Skin Disease Research help all of us?

Many skin diseases are caused by a breakdown of the autoimmune system or other mechanisms shared with other diseases. In the fight against autoimmune diseases like AIDS, skin disease research offers a unique opportunity to observe the cellular progression of a disease mechanisms without invading or damaging the body.